

Individual Reflection

Jonathan Örgård

2019-09-22

This week I have contributed to the team's application of scrum by working on our user stories with the rest of the group. Originally we made the user stories to big (more like epics), but when we broke them down we made them to small (basically tasks). So this week we tried to find a better middle ground with the size of our user stories.

This week I have contributed to the team's deliveries by sending requests to Västtrafiks API and saving the response I got for the different calls in JSON files to create mock data that we can work with in our app. I have also been working on how we can parse that JSON data to use in our objects.

I must work on talking to other members of the team outside of our meetings. Another member of the team was working on a very similar delivery and I should have talked to him more so that we could have learned from each other and delivered faster.